Bar-Ilan Setting Up

TEL AVIV. — Three new chairs will be established at Bar-lian University at Wednesday's commencement exercises for 36 graduates.

This was announced by the Chairman of the University's Board of Governors, Rabbi J. H. Lookstein, at a press conference here yesterday.

The Chair of Education and Public Administration will be named after Britain's Chief Rabbi Israel Brodle. He will arrive here today to attend the ceremony. A Chair of Botany will be named after Mr. S. Weinstein, of New York, and a Chair of Hebrew Literature for Mr. H. Herschman, of Detroit.

Rabbi Lookstein revealed that the University had decided to shelve its plan to open a branch in Beershebs for some years due to financial difficulties. He was convinced that the University as a whole would receive complete recognition now that the sub-committee of the Supreme Committee of Institutes of Higher Education had investigated all the departments.

Bar-flam is going to apply for an annual government grant of IL600,000. At present the Government only gave IL120,000 towards the annual budget of IL125m.

Reports that controls on flour are about to be lifted and that this is likely to be followed by an increase in the price of standard (black) bread were confirmed yesterday by Minister of Commerce Pinhas Sapir, in reply to a question in the Kensset by Mr. Yosef Kushnir (Mapam).

MIDDAY SHOPPING

Editor, The Jerusalem Post
Sir, — In today's paper
you cite the Minister of Labour as saying that more women should go to work.
On the same page you report that Super-Sol has been fined for noon opening.

Although lucky enough to work mornings only, my colleagues and myself have found Super-Sol's noon opening a boon to working housewives. But how can a woman be expected to go out to work when her working housewives he must do her daily shopping? If one business in town is ready to supply its services throughout the noonbreak, let us keep this amenity by all means.

Yours, etc.

Charlton Heston plays Moses, as the young Egyptian prince beloved of Sett; as the slave in the brick pits; and as the deliverer of his people, with sheerity and marked humility. And he marked humility has been as Finkel resembled him in the Jerusalem play.

Judging from the structure of the analyment of the audience, this seems to be just the film to take your grandmother to F.D. Pleasant Enteriainment.

South Facific (Zafon, Tel Aviv) is the film version of the well known musical by Redgers and Hammerstein, which was based on James Michener's Tales of the Pacific," and very pleasant entertainment it makes with its delightful music, good dance.
